Two years behind, litizants in the majority of instances, either cut down their claims within the jurisdiction of the lower courts or suffer grievances rather than to wall two years for their suits to be tried. We also labor under another disavantage. When a suit is tried in a commissioner or justice's court the party defeated can appeal to the Third district court for a small sum and this ties the lastice up for a couple of years, and in some cases defeats justice. By rights this district should have three judges in stead of one and I will guarantee that they will all be kept busy.

The Conservatory of Music Sued for Tubtion.

B. F. Hodson, has filed an action in Commissioner Moyer's court against the Utah Normal College and Conservatory of Music, in which he seeks to recover $183,55 for an alleged brench of contract on the part of the defendants. Mr. Hodson avers that on Sept. Plane, part of section 2, township 2 south thinself and twenty-four other persons, whereby said defendants was to furnish lessons in musical training for a specified time for a certain sum, and that therefiled to comply with the terms of the contract, to praintiffs' damage in the sum of $133,55.

It appears that at the time mentioned in the complaint the Conservatory of Music had three music teachers employed and the twenty-five pupils were divided between them. Later a misunderstanding arose between the teachers and their employers and the former resigned their positions. The pupilis, having paid in advance, now demand a return of the money whice they paid for lessons not given.

THIER SECOND MARRIAGE.

Mary Priestly and Her Divorced Husband
Make It All Up.

County Clerk Allen issued a marriage license yesterday to George Clissold, aged 78,, and Mary E. Priestly, aged 59. This of litself is nothing outside of the ordinary, but it becomes an item of interest when coupled with certain fillings in the Third district court. On April 8, of the present year, Mary E. Clissold filed a suit for divorce against George Clissold. She alleged in her complaint that she was married to the defendant in August, 1885, and that since the marriage he had wilfully falled, neglected and refused to furnish her with the common necessaries of life, and that she had been compelled to rustle for herself. Hence she prayed for a decree of divorce, and that she be restored to her former name of Mary E. Priestly. Clissold falled to answer to the complaint, and on May 9 Mrs. Clissold had the defendant's default entered and secured her decree upon the grounds alleged.

Now the differences have all been settled

The Utah Nursery Company Accused of

Henry W. Watson is plaintiff in an action filed against the Utah Nursery Co., et al, in the Third district court yesterday. The plaintiff alleges that he bought a tract of land from the defendants about two years ago and agreed to pay them therefor the sum of $23,143.80. Of this sum $5,500 was paid in cash and notes were given for the balance. Two of the notes amounting to $17,063.80 were secured by a mortgage and one has been paid, but the mortgage has not been released. It is thus alleged that the defendants were guitty of traudulent representations relative to the land, and the plaintiff has been injured in the sum of $12,000 by virtue of the same. Hence the plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendants for $12,000, and that the running note of plaintiff held hy defendants be declared null and yold and the mortgage released. et at. in the Third district court yester-

The AMERICANIZED ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA

In connection with a Year's Subscription to this Paper, at regular subscription rates, we will furnish this grand work for QUESTIONS.

ANSWERS.

What is this new scheme about which folks are talking—offering to give some standard work or other at an absordly low figure, on subscribing to this rance for one year at the regular subscription rate?

It is a very simple matter. We have arranged with the Publishers of the Americanized Encyclopastin Britannica to take a large quantity of this work off their hands, thus securing a remarkably low price as well as singularly easy terms. We propose to give the whole advantage of this transaction to our subscribers, and offer to deliver the entire set of the Americanized Encyclopadia Britannica on payment of $5.00 and your signing a contract to pay $1.50 a month for 10 months, $30 in ail. This offer is made only in connection with a year's subscription to this paper at regular subscription rates.

Why, that is only about eight ,

Just so. But you see, in these days of steam and electricity, and labor-saving machinery, a great deal can be done for eight cents a day, es-pecially when twenty or thirty thousand people alub their money and each puts his eight cents into a common stock.

You can be thankful that you didn't accept his offer. If you'd done so and seen the Ameri-canized edition afterward you would have fels Encyclopedia youpropose to offer, anylow? I never heard of it before. Now if it was the original Emyclopedia Britannica youwers collaring! about give you my subscription in a hurry. There's a follow can answering me for it now, and he wants sixty dollars for the set, three times what you ask for your Encyclopedia. like kicking yourself. I suppose your canvass-ing friend told you that the Encyclopsedia Bri-tannica was simply the most complete work of its kind ever published?

So it is; he was right enough so far. It's a monumental work and cost more than a million dollars to get up. But there are spots on the sun, you know, and there are defects even in the Encyclopsedia Britannica. Did he mention to you that you might look for Ulysses S. Grant in it and not find a word about him? That's exactly what he said, the very words. He said, too, that it was accepted as the etandard work of reference by all English-speak-ing scholars, and in every English and American library.

Why, no, and I don't believe it's so, either. General Grant was as well known in England as he was in this country.

Hold on, hold on! Just tall me in one word if it says anything about anybody?

Of course he was, or pretty nearly so. But the Encyclopedia Britannica doesn't mention him for all that. And it doesn't say a word about Sherman either, nor about Sheridan, nor Hancock, nor Blaine, nor Cleveland, nor Harri-son, nor Harrist Bescher Stowe, nor Julia Ward Howe, nor Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, nor Charles Stewart Parnell, nor Bismarck, nor Jeff Davis, Oh, yes indeed. It contains some of the most magnificent biographies that ever were written.

— Macaulay's life of Dr. Johnson, for example. But you see what they called "the plan of the work" excluded all mention of living characters. They wanted to see how a man would turn out first before they made room for his life in their volumes.

Ha! Ha! Excuse me, but I can't help laughing. I suppose your canvasser told you his Encyclopesdia was a brand new book, just issued, sh?

Of course he was, or pretty nearly so. But

So. Well, I certainly don't want an Encyclopassia that will not tell an Encyclopassia that will not tell meanything about the great mean of the world mail after they are deed. Why, it's just exactly while they are alive that I want to know about them most. But see here, What you say doesn't hold together. Why im't there anything enichabout General Grant? He was dead long before this last edition of the Encyclopesids Britannica was published. Gness you've traveled off the record just a little hit, my friend?

Why, of course he did. He said it was only published has year.

Only published by HIS publishers he meant.
But if he had spoken the truth about the matter he would have told you that the first volume of the Intest edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica was issued fifteen years ago, and that the greater part of it was compiled at that date. So you see they didn't get General Grant in it after all.

Dear me, what a world this is, to be sure. And is there anything slap the matter with the book?

Why, of course I do.

That depends on the kind of book you want. Let me ask you a question or two. You live here in the United States, don't you? Yes, I thought so. Now tell me, about which do you want the most detailed information, an American city or an English town? An Amer-ican statesman or an English statesman?

What a question! Why, being an American, I want the most detailed information about matters of course. All I am ever likely to want to know about an Euglish town or mannfactures or other products and a few generalities of that kind.

Just so. But, you see, the Encyclopedia Britannics waen't compiled for the use of men like you. It was put together to be used by Englishmen in England. And, you see, they want the exact opposite of what you do, and the Encyclopedia Britaunica, very properly, gives it to them. It fills pages with the account of some insignificant English borough or county that you may never want to know anything that you may never want to know anything about whatever, and gives a half dozen lines to some State or city here that you want the fullest particulars of, but about which an Englishman cares just nothing at all.

I see, I see. We need an Ameri-canized ed! — and by jiminy! That's the very thing you are ad-vertising. Am I right?

Right as a trivet, whatever that may be—I never saw one that I know of. But you're just exactly right, all the same. It's the AMERICANIZED Eacyclopedia Britannica that we propose to put in every home in the West. The long-winded articles on petty British subjects have been cut down to the same length that would have been given them had they been French or German subjects, and the articles on matters of American interest have been all rewritten and treated just as exhaustively as they would have been in the original work had they would have been in the original work had they been specially interesting to Englishmen.

I see, I see. Why it's a perfectly splendid lides. The only wonder is that nobed thought of it before. And I bopes there's a bloggaphy of Ge ral Grantin your Well, rather. One of the best and most com-plete ever written. And there are four thou-sand new biographies besides. In fact, the work contains the life of every distinguished man or woman, American or foreign, now living, or who has died since the Encyclopadia Britannica was compiled. Oh, yes, a few. The entire work has been revised down to the present year for one thing. Then an entirely new set of maps has been added, including a separate map for each State in the University.

Any other improvements? This getting interesting. Upon my word, I'm glad I told at canvasser to call again. If I in't met you I should have been aly stock. Oh, by the way, how go a work is this of yours? Ten good sized volumes, excellently bound. About 7,000 pages altegether, or 14,000 wide columns, equal to about 110 ordinary 12mo attended to promptly.

We cannot do that, as our sole object in handling these books is to increase our circulation; the only profit we get out of it, as can be readily seen, is the increased circulation of the paper; besides, the books cannot be obtained at any price except in connection with the paper.

Ha! Ha! Ha! It seems as though we were ready for you at every turn. Why, of course, you can get them sooner. And you needs't pay any quicker on that account, either. My dear sir, you can get the books at once: by paying a first installment of $5.00 the complete set will be delivered to you then and there.

If you hear of anybody else who would like some information about this really extraordinary offer just tell him to send a postal with his address on it to us, and his case will be extraorded as recombined.

We will deliver at your address a complete set of the Americanized Encyclepeedia Britannica on payment of $5.00, and your signing a contract in which you agree to pay us $2.50 a month for ten months, in all $30.00.

It is distinctly understood that this offer is made only by giving an order for one ears' subscription to this paper at the regular subscription rates. The Encyclopasdia cannot be obtained in any other manner at any price.
